All-new PHOENIX leak detectors from Leybold

In research and development as well as in production, having the right tools and equipment is critical to ensuring top performance and output. We also see applications becoming more specialized, and demands increasing, yet time for analysis and testing is becoming less.

When it comes to vacuum system leak detection, you can rely on Leybold and the newest generation of PHOENIX leak detectors - where precision meets speed, with your convenience in mind.

See what new “noses” can do for you – Visit us at Booth #733 at the SEMICON Show for the demonstration or more details from phoenix-series.com
